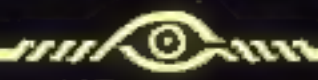
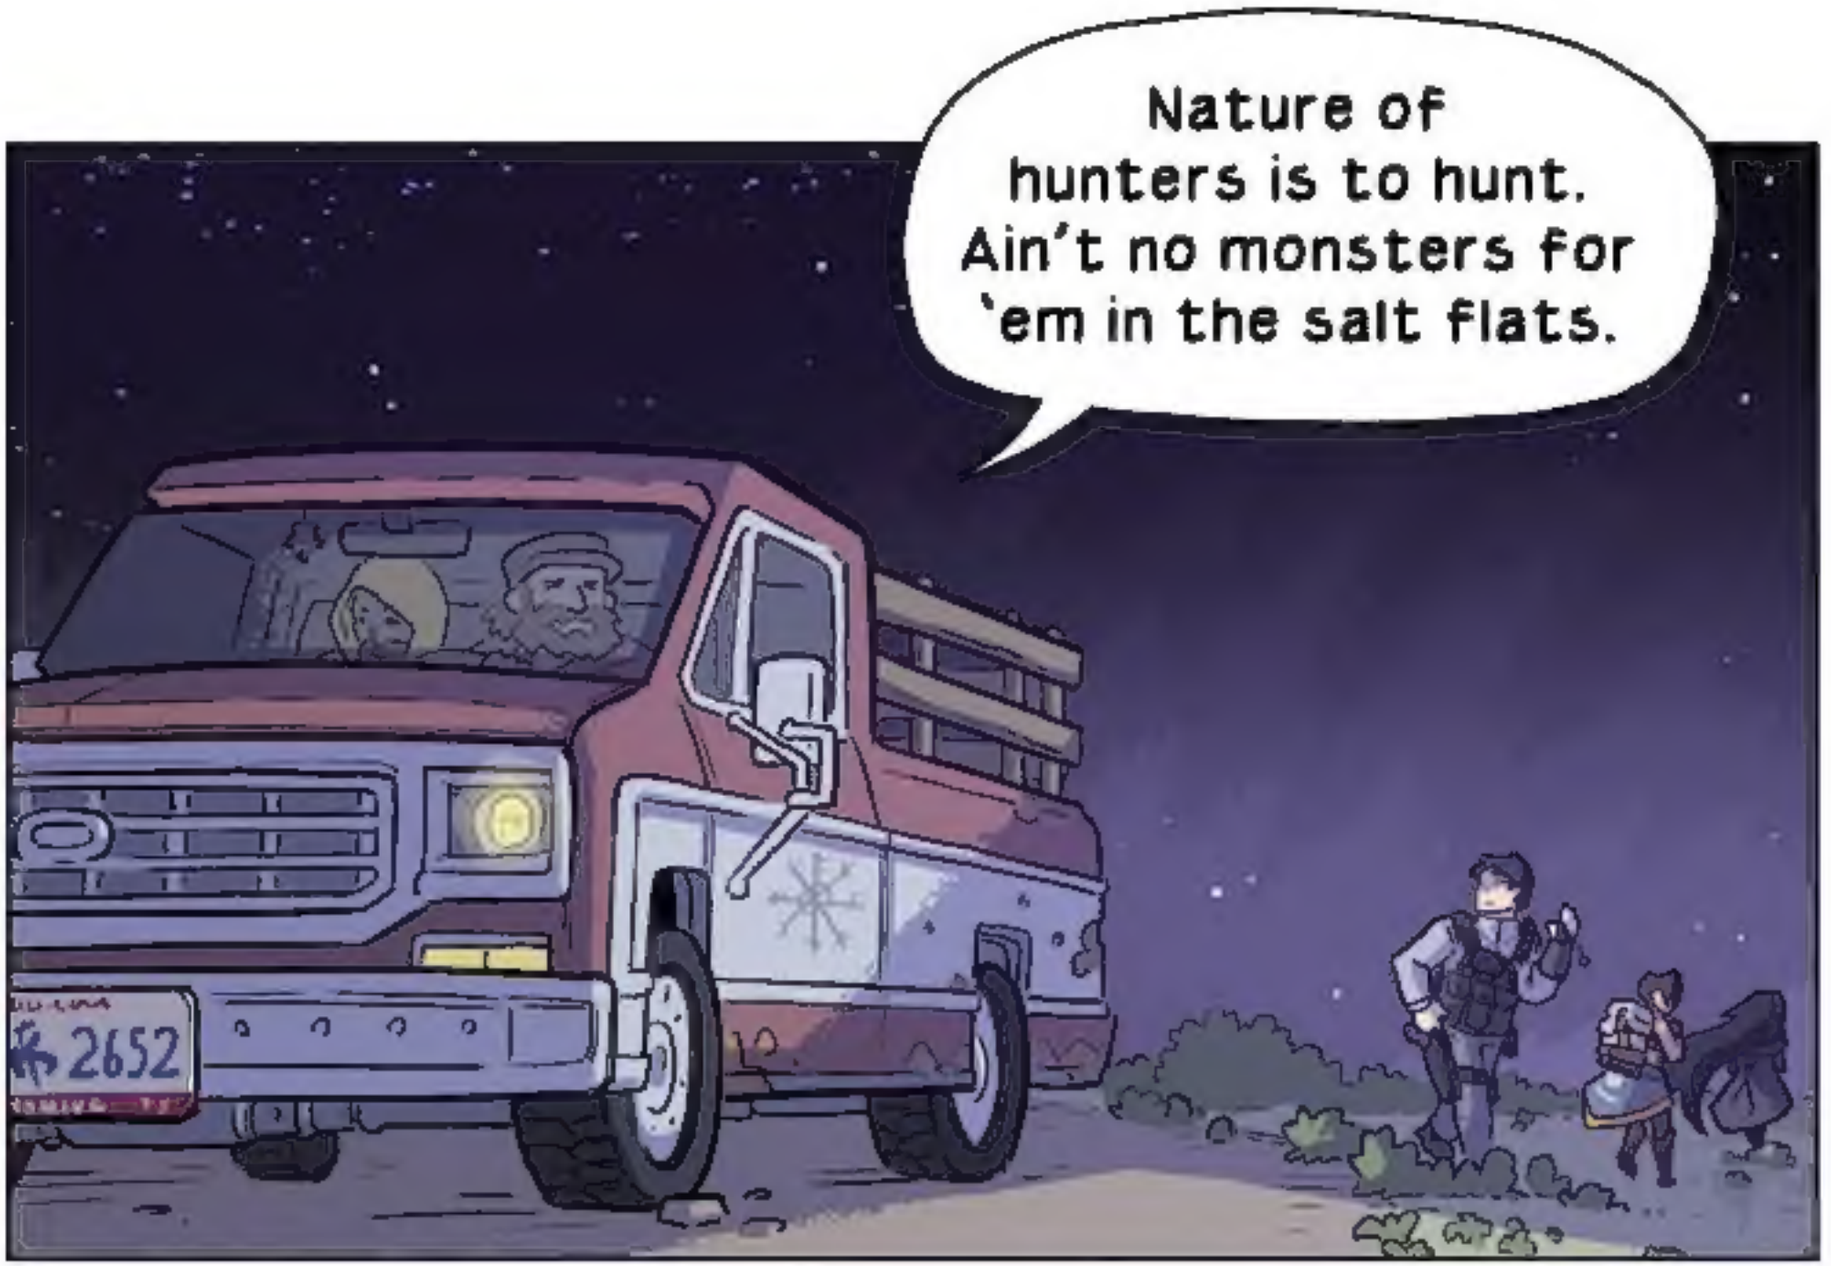
THE SWORD INTERVAL



BEN FLEUTER

Look at these three, dressed for war.

Wish they'd have listened. Wish they'd have come with us to Bonneville.



Nature of hunters is to hunt. Ain't no monsters for 'em in the salt flats.

Sure, but the way they're headed?

Nothing for `em there but death.

Thank you, Barros.

The last time I was here, I was welcome. This time will be different.

Ah, you see? He's already obfuscated the passage down.
Maybe the head of Zaragon can dispell what he's cast.
Only it's not a spell, right? Remember the Visage? How the dead can like, warp their haunts?

Hm, that's a good point Fall. You've really--
...Let me...
Let me help with that, Medusa.

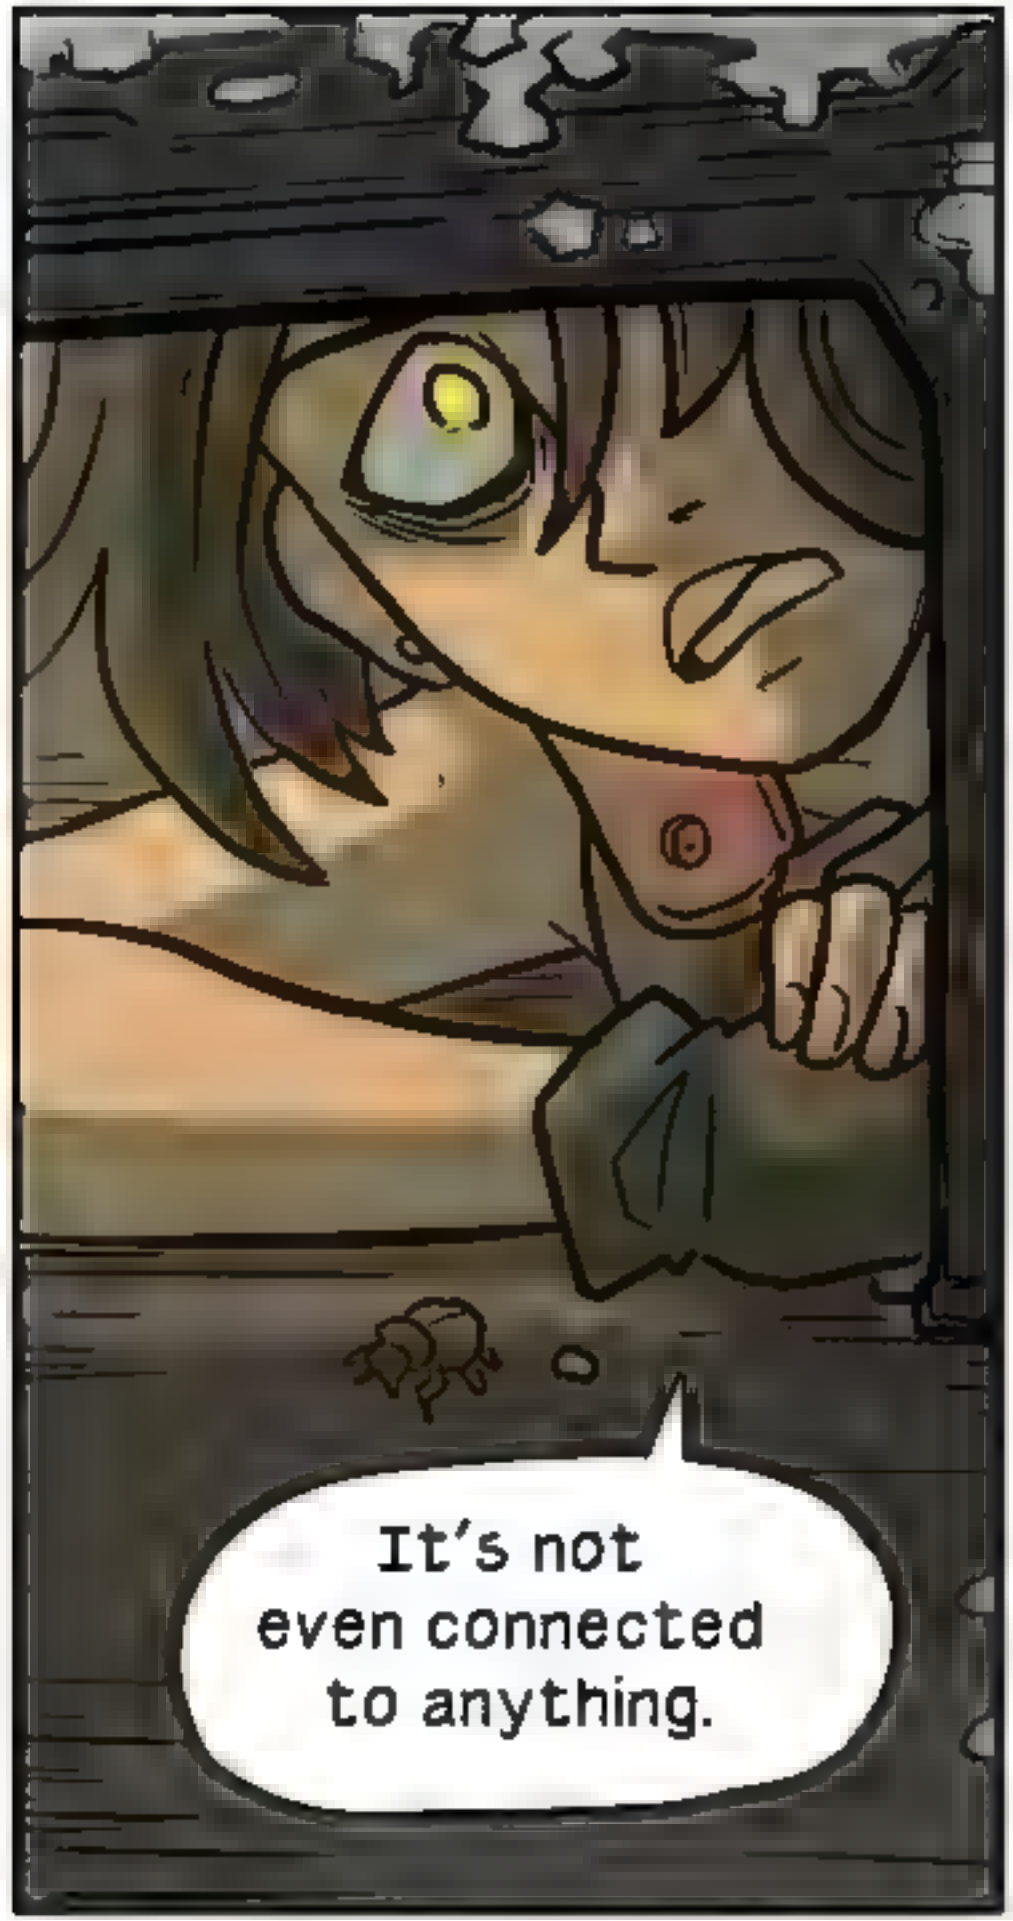
This... wait.
Huh. This a stove or a... washer or..?



It's not even connected to anything.

Come to think of it, there's a lot that's off here, huh Hierophant? It's like... like you tried to put together a home from memory, with no context of what it's like to live in one.
This place is... this is all fake.
